

ORGANIZATION LIVE SYSTEM

OVERVIEW

In Organization Live system, we can initiate the Organization Role operational activities for an automated application. To initiate the organization role activities, get the application with each role operations in live and then validate the roles in live so that we can check the estimated outcome of each role's operational activities.

After validating the roles, initiate the role activities for organization operations in live. RAS enables managing, monitoring and supporting the live system. Relgo Automation studio manages the automated roles and processes for the operations in live.

By aggregating these processes data and roles, it enables to build the applications. It keeps the applications and other resources working and aligned with organization goals. Through monitoring we can keep track of the application working condition and can support it in live system.
